Next month marks the start of the Frieze London and Frieze Masters 2016 art fairs.

Along with 1:54 Contemporary African Art Fair, there are also notable shows at Michael Werner, Hauser & Wirth, David Zwirner and more. Here, our resident art expert Francesca Gavin shares her top five artists to seek out.

Gavin is a contributing arts editor for Dazed & Confused, Kaleidoscope and AnOther and has curated shows across the globe, from London and Berlin to Tokyo.

The 1:54 Contemporary African Art Fair at Somerset House has become the best satellite fair held during the week, focusing on artists and galleries from Africa. This year's discovery is Laura Windvogel aka Lady Skollie, a Johannesburg-based artist, who is exhibiting with Tyburn Gallery. Skollie creates figurative ink and crayon works about sex, gender, taboos and social media. She also hosts online radio show Kiss & Tell about sex and relationships, if you're after aural inspiration.
